Providing experienced Temporary or part-time environmental practitioners, when you need them.

EcoProTem specialises in filling short-term or part-time gaps in environmental staffing, for a wide range of clients.

Regular clients include consultancy firms, mining, real estate development, state government, district councils and natural resource management organisations.

Manufacturing and mining

Situation: The environmental manager at a chemical plant is going on parental leave.

The plant manager does not have the time to undertake EPA compliance, an ISO 14000 audit and environmental improvement programs. They are unlikely to find a n experienced short-term replacement in time.

Solution: Eco Pro Tem is engaged to supply a short-term environmental manager, familiar with similar businesses and South Australian requirements.

EcoProTem organises hand-over at both ends of the leave period, keeping all staff engaged and allowing the business to operate as usual.

Retail and trades

Situation: A medium-sized building firm would like to tighten up their environmental performance, but do not have enough work to justify a full-time, permanent staff member.

Solution: Eco Pro Tem is engaged to provide an experienced environmental manager part-time. As the business grows, EcoProTem help the client gain ISO 14000 certification and assist with the recruitment of a full-time environmental manager.

Community and NRM

Situation: A community organisation applies for several grants to help them clean up their local area. They receive more funding than they hand initially expected. The reporting is daunting and they have less than a year to complete all proposed works.

Solution: EcoProTem provides an experienced project officer for the duration of the project.

The projects undertaken smoothly, enabling the organisation to apply for further grants.

Land development

Situation: A business decides to build a new facility on an undeveloped site. As their development goes through the approvals process, they are asked to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS).

They would rather keep preparation of the EIS in-house, however they do not have all the skills required.

Solution: EcoProTem provides an environmental manager to manage contractual documentation, coordinate specialists, mentor staff, assist with agency negotiations and prepare the final submission.
